MRS. ALICE WOLSCHONDORF

ERRING WIFE IDENTIFIED IN TRAGEDY

Solution of the River Mystery Bares Fatal Romance of a Bridgewater Woman

By BERT FORD

The mystery of the Merrimac river tragedy, with its human torso and limb-stuffed suitcases, was solved today and with its solving came the invocation once more of that old moral, hoary with age—that the wages of sin is death.

The victim was Mrs. Alice Wolschondorf of East Bridgewater. She used the name Wallendon.

She was married and the mother of four children.

Her husband is George Wallendon, proprietor of Osceola Pines, a Summer resort frequented by Boy Scouts, National Guardsmen and campers on the shore of Robbins Pond, between East Bridgewater and Hanson.

They were separated.

Mrs. Wolschondorf was forty-four years old. She loved another. Came an unlooked-for development. She went to Dr. Davis H. Swope of No. 232 Perkins avenue, Brockton.

"I will be disgraced if this should happen," she told him.

From Dr. Swope she is known to have gone to Dr. William M. Robb, the now hunted Back Bay physician, who was run out of New Hampshire for practicing illegal surgery.

Dr. Swope said he did not send Mrs. Wolschondorf to the missing

13,500 GET MORE PAY IN BROCKTON PLANTS

Brockton, Sept. 14.—A general wage increase of 10 per cent. in all the factories of members of the Brockton Shoe Manufacturers' Association, effective Sept. 30, was announced by the association today.

The increase will affect about 13,500 employes in 63 factories.

The Joint Shoe Council of the Brockton & Shoe Workers Union requested this advance some time ago.

The last wage change in the shoe industry here was made in March, 1922, when the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, to which the question had been submitted for arbitration, decided upon a wage cutout of 10 per cent.

120 GERMANS DIE IN RUHR; QUADRILLION MARKS SEIZED

Berlin, Sept. 14.—What is considered a final summing up of the cost of Germany's passive resistance to the France-Belgian forces of occupation is contained in a semi-official statement.

The death toll is 120, not including 10 Germans sentenced to capital punishment by court martial. Five persons were sentenced to life imprisonment, and the other sentences aggregate 1500 years. Persons ousted from homes numbered 145,000.

The allies seized 1,652,000,000,000,000 marks and 110,000 French francs and during the occupation have shipped only 2,375,000 tons of fuel from the occupied region, whereas in the same period last year Germany made reparation deliveries of 11,460,000 tons, the statement says.

MEDFORD GIRL, VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH, IS DYING

Muriel Parker of Pickwood street, Medford, is dying in Quincy Hospital. She has a fractured skull sustained when an automobile in which she was riding with George A. Rausch of 739 Medford street, Arlington, struck a pole near the Hingham Bridge in Weymouth. Rausch is in the hospital suffering from body burts and abrasions.

The couple lay unconscious for some time on the road. Thieves stripped their car in the meantime taking away everything removable of value.

YOUNG BANDITS BEAT, ROB G. A. R. VET OF PENSION CASH

Norwell, Sept. 14.—Howard Mann, aged 78, officer of the day of the Grand Army of the Republic Post here, was brutally assaulted, robbed and tied to a bed by two young men, who attacked him with a revolver last night.

He had just cashed his pension check of $110, and came home with the money. He resides alone on High street.

Doctors Give Him Edge on Condition After He and Firpo Weigh In

By JACK CONWAY

New York, Sept. 14.—Dempsey to win is still our selection in the battle of the giants with the time of the heavyweight classic only a few hours away.

Dempsey and Firpo appeared at the office of the Boxing Commission this afternoon and were pronounced fit for their fifteen-round tussle at the Polo Grounds tonight.

Both weighed in heavier than in their previous battles. Dempsey at 192½ pounds and Firpo at 216½.

The champion wore a four days growth of beard. He looked like a fighting man of the days of Rome as he waited to be examined.

Firpo was quiet and sullen, appar-

BRIDGEWATER WOMAN, MOTHER OF 4 CHILDREN, SUITCASE VICTIM

SOLUTION OF RIVER MYSTERY REVEALS SECRET ROMANCE

doctor. "Neither could I say for a certainty," he adds, "that Mrs. Wolschonsdorf was in a delicate condition."

The physician had examined the woman at her request.

On the morning of September 1 the sluggish old Merrimac River gave up Mrs. Wallendam's headless body, gave it up in dismembered parts, packed into two suit cases.

Dr. Robb is missing.

Missing with him is his new Stutz car. Its rear end trunk was damaged some time about Sept. 1. These trunks carry two suit cases as part of their equipment.

The suit cases containing the cut up corpse were suitcases such as might have been in a Stutz car rear end trunk. Dr. Robb ordered a new trunk mounted upon his machine and vanished. Today he is being sought in a dozen cities.

The victim was estranged from her husband.

In an all night session in the office of District Attorney Arthur K. Reading, that husband, a lank, quiet sort of man with a Yankee drawl when he chooses to speak, sat and faced the man who had brought about the condition of the wife which led indirectly to her death.

Mrs. Wolschondorf and her children lived in a pretty white cottage on Plymouth street, East Bridgewater. A garage stands in the rear. Three of the youngsters were dressing by the kitchen stove when an American reporter entered the house today. The younger of the trio is blithe and happy.

The tragedy is as yet unknown to them. The oldest, a boy, was weary with sadness. Tears brimmed to his eyes. He choked when he tried to speak.

The house was the acme of neatness. Quite in contrast is it to the little room in a boathouse at Robbins Pond the husband and father has occupied since a rift spelled separation from his wife and youngsters.

The family once lived happily on the pond's shore in a large house, now known as a "hotel" in which suites are rented.

BAG A NEW CLEW

The chain of circumstance connecting Dr. Robb with the case was strengthened today by the finding in his office of a 16-inch russet bag of the type the woman is said to have been seen with when she left for his office.

This bag was found by State officers shortly after this official statement was issued by District Attorney Reading:

"For several days the State police have been seeking to learn the whereabouts of Mrs. Alice N. Wolschondorf, wife of George K. Wolschondorf of Plymouth street, East Bridgewater.

"Mrs. Wolschondorf was forty-three years of age, approximately 5 feet, 4 inches in height, gray-haired, gray or blue gray eyes, rather stocky and weighed approximately 143 pounds.

"She was last seen August 27 entering the office of Dr. William M. Robb, No. 353 Massachusetts avenue.

"All efforts to locate Mrs. Wolschondorf through relatives or friends have proved fruitless. When last seen she was wearing a blue and white checked dress and carried a 16-inch russet bag."

While Dr. Swope, who is wealthy and prominent in Brockton, denied he sent Mrs. Wolschondorf to Dr. Robb it was revealed by investigators today that she had come to Boston to see a physician for medical treatment, accompanied by her 20-year-old son and Wm. F. Bowen of No. 231 Pleasant street, East Bridgewater. They had first visited a Brockton doctor.

Bowen, who is sixty-two years old, came to East Bridgewater five years ago, buying the farm where he now lives.

This was on August 28. She left the man and boy near Dr. Robb's office, which is at No. 353 Massachusetts avenue.

On September 3 Bowen and young Wolschondorf went to Dr. Robb's office to inquire for the mother. She was reported to be doing nicely, but that more time would be necessary for the treatment. The boy and man returned later, not once but several times. They could get no satisfaction at the Robb office. Neither were they able to see the doctor. They went to Brockton and consulted with the doctor who had recommended the malpractitioner.

What the conference developed isn't known, but two days ago the Back Bay police were notified of the circumstances concerning the missing woman. They notified District Attorney Reading. Developments followed with amazing swiftness.

WERE CLOSE FRIENDS

Mrs. Wolschondorf and Bowen, her employer, were close friends. She drove his sedan. He owns a real estate and securities business. Their acquaintance came, it is said, through the daughters of each forming a friendship. Bowen's daughter is twenty, the dead woman's, younger. She is Mildred Wolschondorf. The other children are Harold, eighteen; Dorothy, fourteen, and Evelyn, twelve. Harold drove the real estate man about often. He drove his mother to the Back Bay the day she was last seen alive.

Harold Wolschondorf, with Bowen and Dr. Swope, were closeted in District Attorney Reading's office for several hours.

Bowen refused to say whether or not he knew Mrs. Wolschondorf wanted medical attention to avoid an embarrassing development the day he accompanied her to Boston's Back Bay and left her near the office of Dr. Robb. He was seen by an American reporter at his home.

"Upon the advice of District Attorney Reading, at whose office I was most of last night, I cannot talk," he said. "I will say, however, that Mrs. Wolschondorf worked for me for about a year and a half. She drove my car.

"I went with her to Boston on August 27. I did not see Dr. Robb. I have not seen the mutilated body. I cannot say whether or not it is here."

He refused to answer when asked if he knew who was responsible for the woman's need of medical attention.

Dr. Robb did not draw heavily against his bank accounts, three of which police examined today. Two are on Boston trust companies, the other in Keene, N. H.

Mrs. Walschondorf vanished on August 26.

HEAD STILL MISSING

As far as known, her head is still missing.

But the arms, one with its double vaccination, the torso and limbs the lank husband with the Yankee drawl peered at through misty eyes, mumbled "Yes," then turned away and brushed off a tear with horny hand.

These questions authorities now wish to ask the missing Dr. Robb:

"Did the victim die under an illegal operation?"

"Who performed it?"

"Where was that operation performed?"

"Who cut up the body?"

"Was it thrown from the Tyngsboro bridge?"

Of the man who the estranged wife turned to for the love which led to death no hint as to his identity has been given out.

He is understood to have been "well fixed" as to money.

He is technically in custody of State police.

Three days ago on Boston streets one heard this:

"They'll never solve this mystery."

Yet thirteen days from the finding of the corpse and strangely enough on the thirteenth of the month District Attorney Reading of State police through ceaseless work of the most trying sort, had identified the corpse and solved the mystery.

And in doing so invoked again the moral cited above.

Announcement of the victim's name today marked the climax in the mystery.

RAID ROBB'S OFFICE

While the witnesses were being interrogated in East Cambridge, State Detectives Ferrari and O'Neil visited the apartments of Dr. Robb of No. 353 Massachusetts avenue and removed a small bag and surgical instruments. They also carried away a buff-covered register containing the names and addresses of Robb's women patients and a card index.

Probing of the affairs of a group of Back Bay physicians before the trail narrowed down to Dr. Robb is reported to have revealed an amazing truffle in the names of women. State investigators discovered that when certain physicians transferred their practice the chief item of sale were lists of women patients.

State and county authorities admitted that the murder victim had been positively identified. They expressed fear that premature disclosure of the name might retard their investigation.

A Boston taxi driver telephoned information to the State police today concerning Dr. Robb. The information is said to relate to alleged visits made by Dr. Robb to a certain private hospital.

Relative to recent developments in the absorbing murder case, District Attorney Reading issued the following statement:

Dr. Wm. M. Robb

"I noticed in the Thursday afternoon newspapers that Dr. Robb's brother was quoted as having stated that Dr. Robb would return.

"We sincerely hope that he will.

"We would welcome any statement from the doctor which would explain away certain circumstances and we would be only too glad if he could eliminate himself.

"There are certain matters that Dr. Robb must explain. No process has been issued for him."

Dr. Robb's relatives state that he is in New York "on a vacation." He was last seen by them at Marlow, N. H.

Dr. Robb is believed to have lived in Marlow for two years following 1920. At that time a physician with the same name occupied a suite in the Corey Building on Main street. He was a registered voter. In registering in November, 1920 he gave his age as twenty-nine years and his birthplace as Maine, N. Y.

Loneliness Drove Victim Into Fatal Romance

Alice Wolschondorf parted with her husband because romance played no part in his life.

Friends of the couple today told the Boston American what caused Mrs. Wolschondorf to seek romance even at the cost of sin.

"George Wolschondorf became careless of his personal appearance soon after he was married," said one old neighbor. "He owns a beautiful piece of property and could sell more lots or rent Summer cottages and have a large income should he choose to do so. But George has refused all offers for any of his land and seems content to putter about the place and live off the small income derived from renting boats and bathing suits.

PAID WAGES OF SIN

"Alice was different. While George looked much older than his actual years, Alice always kept herself well groomed and could easily have passed for a woman of thirty. George never cared for company, while Alice was sociable and liked to have a good time.

"There never was any real trouble between the two. They have had business dealings constantly since their separation and seemed to get along without any arguments. It was simply a case where an active woman could not stand the monotony of a life which was all that her husband desired."

Neighbors have gossiped during the past year about a friendship between Mrs. Wolschondorf and Thomas Bowen, the real estate dealer whom she drove about every day. But they did not suspect that she might be the victim in the suit case mystery until State detectives arrived yesterday to question them.

George Wolschondorf takes all trouble quietly for this is not the first time that tragedy has entered his life. Years ago a sister, Elva Wolschondorf, shot another sister and the family was dragged through the humiliation of arrests and court proceedings.

The wounded sister recovered and Eva was later released after being under observation for some time. She was thought to have been mentally deranged at the time of the shooting.

Mrs. Robb Tells Her Story to Captain Proctor

Mrs. William M. Robb was closeted with Captain Proctor of the State Police for about half an hour today. She repeated the story she told to State Officer "Cy" Smith last night in which she denied all knowledge of any possible connection Dr. Robb might have had with the suit case mystery.

"The last time I saw my husband was one week ago yesterday," said Mrs. Robb. "I was with him in Boston on that day and he drove me to the North Station in the Stutz car and gave me the key to the car when we parted. I never heard of Mrs. Wolschondorf."

Mrs. Robb seemed more worried about the key to her safety box than anything else. She has given the key to State detectives. "I have no money and would like to be able to get into the safety deposit box where all my funds are," she said. Mrs. Robb said she would go back to Marlow, N. H., this afternoon.

Aged Mother of River Victim Lives in Somerville

Mrs. Wolschondorf had a mother living in Somerville, Mrs. Charles J Orcutt. She is 69 years old. With her husband years ago she lived in Rockland.

There the victim in the suitcase tragedy was born on April 5, 1878. On September 26, 1900, she married Wolschondorf in East Bridgewater. He was then a stationary engineer. They were married by the Rev. John Pearse.

Mrs. Wolschondorf's maiden name was Alice Mildred Orcutt. Her first child she named Mildred.

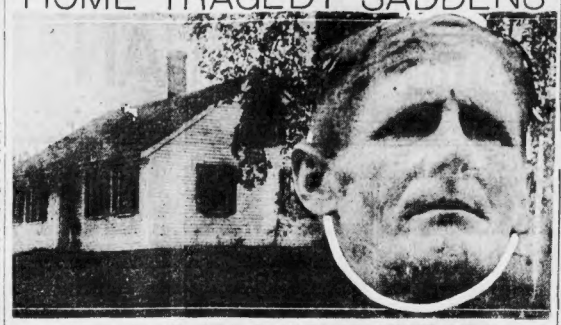
HOME TRAGEDY SADDENS



HUSBAND AND HOME OF SUITCASE MURDER VICTIM

It was from this cozy little home at East Bridgewater that pretty Mrs. Alice Wolschondorf issued forth in quest of "romance." She found it—and paid the age-old price of sin—death. Today four children and a husband are bowed in grief over the tragedy that marked her end. Their fears came true when the grim contents of the tell-tale suitcases dragged from the murky Merrimac were identified today. Inset is George Wallendon, the victims's husband. They had not lived together for three years.

Utilities Commission at once.

It affects thousands of people.

The increase will represent an additional expense to commuters of thousands of dollars per week.

The flat per mile rate average in Boston and vicinity is 3.6 cents per mile. The commutation rate averages a little more than a cent a mile.

The roads claim they can't make money at that rate.

The move for the increased tariff has been in contemplation for some time. They allege that one of the reasons for the increase desired is the refusal of western roads to adjust rates on freight from the West over New England roads.

Because of the great number of people affected by the proposed new tariff, it is likely that lengthy public hearings will be held by the Public Service Utilities Commission. Under the law no change in tariff can be effected within thirty days following application to the commission.

Kings in Exile Behold the Great Day Night Filled With Music 93,000 Miles a Second

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company.

THERE IS a revolution in Spain. The army rebels against the government, demands that the cabinet get out.

That's a revolution hard to handle. The soldiers have the weapons, and, forced into the army, they have the sympathy of the crowd.

The soldiers are tired of being sent to Africa to be shot by enthusiastic barbarians determined to hang on to their land.

IT IS SAID the King of Spain is not affected by the uprising, but that is uncertain. He may go to join his little Portuguese royal brother in London. Exile isn't so bad for kings in these days. London welcomes them. They find there polo, music halls, gay young ladies, no prohibition, no responsibility or danger from the mob.

THIS IS THE GREAT DAY. Nobody will ask WHAT great day.

Firpo and Dempsey will fight to decide whether a South American or a North American is the better man.

They won't really decide anything. Firpo is taller, heavier, stronger than Dempsey, and has probably lived more carefully.

Dempsey is quicker, more skillful, and has his championship at stake.

THERE HAS been much talk of betting at long odds, but there hasn't been any actual betting, of consequence.

Apart from ardent patriots, there is an inclination to think that Dempsey may hand the crown to South America.

THE BREEDING of the two men is interesting. Dempsey combines North American Indian with Irish blood.

In Firpo, there is Spanish blood, and probably some strain of South American Indian.

You can, if you choose, imagine it a South American Indian against a North American Indian, which goes back a long way.

On the white side of the fence it is a contest between the Iberian Celt and the Celt of the North.

Interesting and complete proof of our barbarism is this: Ninety-nine per cent. of the male adult population of the United States is more interested in this fight than it could possibly be in any other public event.

DR. DEFOREST, electrical expert, says that five years will develop twenty million "radio fans." A hundred million are interested now. In a few years, radio information will enter every house as the fresh air comes in.

"And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away."

The difficulty will be shutting out the music that doesn't suit you, and other things.

TO ENJOY a good headache, read Sir Ernest Rutherford, great British scientist, on the atom. A thousand atoms in the corner of your eye wouldn't bother you. You wouldn't know they were there.

The atom, a complex unit of pure electricity, of which all substances, elements, wealth, rocks, buildings, money and men are made, is a miniature solar system. It has a central electron which is like the sun.

Around it revolve dozens of smaller electrons like planets. The electrons farthest away from the centre, in this miniature solar system, travel slowly. In their orbits only five hundred miles a second. Those nearest the centre travel at the inconceivable speed of ninety-three thousand miles a second.

What horrible forces are locked up in those minute particles of matter in such an "infra-world"?

WHO KNOWS what may happen, what generations may be born and die in the fraction of a second? Who knows that this Milky Way cosmos of ours, compared to which the earth is as big as an atom compared with the earth itself, may not be a mere atom in a bigger cosmos?

The power that holds together the atom in a glassful of water would, if released, run all the machinery of the United States for an indefinite period.

There's another headache in that thought.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE had two separate fainting spells yesterday. The wise don't gamble. The foolish gamble usually on the wrong side.

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Walter S. Ward, millionaire's son, on trial for his life for the murder of Clarence S. Peters, of Haverhill, Mass., has the leading role in the drama of an intensely absorbing trial, with all its play and counterplay of personalities, shifting facts and sudden climaxes.

Not even his wife, Beryl Curtis Ward, worn, nervous, appealing, who slipped quietly into the court to the surprise of all connected with the case, will be more intently observed by the curious eyes in every part of the crowded court room of the West-chester County Court House at White Plains.

WARD'S SELF-ASSURANCE

He has the self-assurance that comes from always having had his own way. His confidence in himself keeps him from nervousness, but he is in a tight place, and knows it, and his faculties are fully alive and concentrated on the problem of getting out.

His assurance is partly the consciousness of being keen, partly consciousness of being wealthy and partly that of a man who knows how to get his way by making people want to give it to him.

Ward would stand a good chance if there were women on the jury. A lot of women find it hard to resist that kind of good looking man, with a smile like his.

Counsel for the defence said he would not decide until after the prosecution has completed its case whether he would call Mrs. Ward as a witness for the defendant. Attorney-General Sherman probably will call her for the State to testify what hour Ward returned to his home in New Rochelle on the morning after

N. E. Apple Crop to Be Million and Half Barrels

The commercial apple crop of New England is estimated from reports of conditions September 1 at 1,552,000 barrels by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Federal Department of Agriculture, it was announced by the New England Crop Reporting Service today. The figure for last year was 1,080,000, and the average for the five years from 1918 to 1922, inclusive, was 1,182,000.

Quality, on the whole, is good, ranging from poor to excellent, the report continued, and the fruit is coloring quite well. Size is fair to good, and would have been better with a little more rain.

ARREST HUB MAN ON WAY TO FIRPO FIGHT

New York, Sept. 14—Asa H. Raymond, formerly of Boston, was arrested today upon his arrival from the Philippines.

Raymond held two ringside tickets for the Dempsey-Firpo fight and made strenuous objections to going to jail on a warrant sworn out in Boston by I. Burt Lazarus, who charged him with the larceny of $90 in a business deal many months ago.

REBEL CHIEF TO RULE SPAIN

Cabinet Forced Out by King's Refusal to Let It Quell Barcelona Revolt

Madrid, Sept. 14 (A.P.)—King Alfonso this afternoon asked Captain-General Primo Rivera, leader of the military movement against the Alhucemas Cabinet, to form a government.

It was announced by Captain-General Munoz Cobo of Madrid, who is charged with the maintenance of public order, that a proclamation of martial law was necessary.

Premier Alhucemas and cabinet resigned today after he had been received by the King, who arrived from San Sebastian.

At the conclusion of his conversation with King Alfonso Premier Alhucemas announced he had proposed to the King the immediate dismissal of the captains-general of Barcelona, Saragossa and all the other military officers associated with the present movement.

King Alfonso replied it was indispensable that he have time to consider the situation. Thereupon the premier handed His Majesty the resignation of the entire Cabinet.

Outlines Program of Spanish Revolt

Barcelona, Sept. 14 (C.N.S.)—Revolutionary troops were co-operating with the police today to preserve order.

Marquis Destella outlined the program of the revolutionists as follows:

1—Purification of Spanish politics.
2—Stricter enforcement of laws.
3—Reduction of government expenses.
4—Protection for workingmen.
5—Impartial investigation of the Spanish defeat in Morocco.

Pope Asks Exact Facts About Spain's Upheaval

Rome, Sept. 14.—Pope Pius, interested in the situation in Spain, has telegraphed the nuncature at Madrid for precise information. He conferred at length with Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of state.

The Italian press derives satisfaction by comparing Spanish developments to the Fascista movement in Italy, characterizing them as both anti-subversive and anti-democratic.

Beer Supplies Cut to Mere Trickle In Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Beer distribution and consumption here is reduced to a mere trickle, according to city authorities, whose activities in putting local breweries under police guard and seizing trucks loaded with alleged beer have been augmented by Federal prohibition officers in raids on out-of-town breweries, said by them to be sources of supply for the Chicago beer market.

Saloons selling real beer today were selling their reserve stocks, authorities said, which is running so low that prices must soon be doubled or tripled.

BERGDOLL PAYS IF HE RETURNS, SAYS WEEKS

Indianapolis, Sept. 14.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy war slacker, would be far better off in every way had he remained in the United States, in the opinion of Secretary of War John W. Weeks. Secretary Weeks made the assertion in a letter to Lemuel Bolles, National Adjutant of the American Legion, which was made public today.

The secretary declared that Bergdoll would be compelled to serve his full prison sentence if he returned to this country, no matter how many years intervene. He added that, being a fugitive from justice, the man is not entitled to the return of any property or money taken from him under the provisions of the trading with the enemy act.

The letter was in reply to one from legion officials asking "whether there is any real desire on the part of those having the power to do so to actually bring this man back and make him serve his sentence."

"The right of Germany at the present time to refuse to surrender Bergdoll is undoubted," Mr. Weeks said. "The expedience of complying with a request that he be surrendered, assuming such a request were made, is a matter for Germany alone to decide. Were the United States in a legal position to demand as of right the surrender of Bergdoll, there would be, I am sure, no hesitancy on the part of this or any other department of the government in taking steps to that end."

ORDER IS GIVEN BY MAYOR

All Living in Johnstown, Pa., Less Than Seven Years Must Move On

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 14.—More than 2000 negroes have left Johnstown in a week. More are going. Mayor Cauffiel said, and it was his intention to see that no more were brought here from the south.

"We have been sitting on a bomb in this city," said the the mayor, "and it almost exploded last week when two of our policemen were killed and four other wounded. No less than a dozen flaming crosses were burned on the hill tops around the city."

New York, Sept. 14.—Mayor Joseph Cauffiel of Johnstown, Pa., has ordered all negroes who have resided in that city for less than seven years to leave town, the American Civil Liberties Union announced today it had been informed by Warren Worth Bailey, editor of the Johnstown Democrat.

The mayor issued an order forbidding all future importations of negroes and announced that he will compel every negro visiting that city in the future to report to either the mayor or the chief of police, the Civil Liberties Union declared it was informed.

Until further orders from the mayor, negroes living in Johnstown are prohibited from holding public gatherings and will not be allowed to assemble except for church, it was said.

JAMES R. CARTER IS DEAD AT AGE OF 77

Nashua, N. H. Sept. 14.—James Richard Carter, seventy-seven, president of the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Company, is dead. He was treasurer of the Carter, Rice Company of Boston, and had been ever half a century in the paper business.

CHARGE MOTHER FORGED CHECK

Attleboro, Sept. 14.—While carrying her two-months-old son, Mrs. Marion T. Koler, also known as Joan Constance Ball, of No. 13 Florence street, was arrested charged with uttering worthless checks against the Manufacturers' National Bank.

It is claimed by the bank officials that on September 1 she deposited a check on the First National Bank of Boston, bearing the signature of "William K. Ball," and four days later drew $250 in cash against the check, which was returned by the First National Bank.

Mrs. Koler appeared in the District Court today to answer to the charge of larceny. She denies guilt, claiming mistaken identity.

INDICT CO. HEADS ON FRAUD CHARGES

Columbus, O. Sept. 14. (A.P.)—Fourteen indictments charging William G. Benham, president, and Dwight Harrison, secretary and treasurer of the R. L. Dollings Co. of Ohio, with obtaining money under false pretence and with aiding and abetting in obtaining money under false pretence, were returned by the Preble grand jury at Eaton, Ohio, according to announcement today by Attorney-General C. C. Crabbe.

Mr. Harrison was arrested at his home here by Sheriff C. R. Nehrley of Preble county and today was being held in the Preble county jail at Eaton. Mr. Benham has not yet been arrested, he is said to be out of the State.

SEEK PARENTS OF DESERTED BABY

Louis Fitzgerald and a woman known to the police as Mrs. Helen Ridlon, and said by authorities to be Fitzgerald's wife, are being sought by police all over New England on a charge of deserting their eighteen months old baby, Violet Fitzgerald.

Violet Fitzgerald.

According to the Swampscott police, Fitzgerald and his wife abandoned the child at the home of William Brewster, No. 631 Essex street, Swampscott, last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Samuel Fitzgerald of Green land, N. H., mother of the missing man, came to Swampscott today. She said her son had married Mrs. Ridlon three years ago. The police are planning to investigate the legality of the couple's marriage.

Hunt Gladys Keeney

New York, Sept. 14.—Police today started a search for Gladys Keeney, fifteen, of Brooklyn, who has been missing since August 2, when she started home from Hartford, after having left the home of an uncle at Springfield, during a quarrel.

JUSTICE TAFT AGAIN HEADS UNITARIANS

Justice Taft

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 14 (I.N.S.).—The General Unitarian Conference of the United States and Canada closed its triennial meeting today with the passage of resolutions and the re-election of Chief Justice William H. Taft as president.

This afternoon the Unitarian Laymen's League succeeded to the duties of important items on the program, when its Fourth Annual Ministers' Institute and Third Annual Convention began a series of sessions that will close with a convention sermon on Sunday morning.

For vice-presidents of the General Conference, the delegates selected Chief Justice Arthur E. Bugg, of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts; Chief Judge Frank H. Hiscock of the Court of Appeals of New York; Gustave A. Brooks, of Louisville, Ky.; George Peabody, of Salem; Mandell Willard, of Baltimore, president of the B. & O. Railroad, and Charels Grilk, of Davenport, Ia.

For general secretary the Rev. Palfrey Perkins was re-elected and Percy W. Gardner, of Providence was continued in office as treasurer.

For members of the council the following were named:

Rev. John H. Lathrop of Brooklyn, Dr. Frank C. Doan of Rochester, Ernest G. Adams of Providence, Emmett L. Richardson of Milwaukee, Rev. Sidney B. Snow of Montreal, Mrs. Murdock C. C. Clark of Cambridge, Miss Margaret I. Alcorn of Orange, N. J., Mr. Albert B. Carr of New York, Dr. H. Barrett Fearnhead of Washington and E. H. Roemar of Des Moines.

CO-OPERATION URGED BY COAL BODY IN REPORT

Washington Sept. 14.—Improved means of co-operation between miners and operators in meeting their mutual responsibilities to the public was the keynote of recommendations in a report submitted by the coal commission to President Coolidge on the National Coal Industry.

Summing up its study of the industry in the report published today, the commission declared that until all measures for holding both sides to the responsibilities have been exhausted, it would be "extremely unwise for the public to embark on coercive measures of regulation of labor relations."

The commission made thirty-seven specific recommendations as a basis for adjustments in the industry by which it held such operation possible as would insure a dependable fuel supply to the public, adequate wages to the miners and a reasonable return to the operators. Outstanding among these was the recommendation for compulsory investigation whenever failure to agree on the renewal of a wage contract appeared imminent.

CORCORAN TRIAL DELAYED A MONTH

BOSTON GAINS $120,803 IN POSTAL SAVINGS FOR MONTH

Washington, Sept. 14.—The largest increase since December, 1920 was recorded in postal savings accounts for the month of August over July, it was announced by Postmaster-General New.

The increase was attributed to more healthy employment conditions since it is the laboring c ss, especially those of foreign birth, who seek the security of the postal savings banks.

The largest increase in deposits was in New York city, with $124,154; Boston was second, with $120,803, and Denver third, with $118,216.

The entire increase during August was $800,000. There was no deposit in postal savings accounts at the beginning of August $132,646,896.

ORDER RESTRAINS ASSAILING WORKERS

Springfield, Sept. 14.—A temporary injunction restraining alleged assailants of employes of the Ashpol & Sons Manufacturing Company, clothing makers, was granted in Superior Court today, by which they are enjoined from interfering in any way with the company's workers.

At the same time Judge Walt recommitted to the special master, former Judge E. L. Shaw, his report of two weeks ago for findings of facts on additional matters in the original bill, such as alleged violations of the individual contract.

BENTLEY SCHOOL HAS RECORD CLASS

The doors of the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance swung open to admit the largest entering class in its six years of existence. The sphere of influence of this one of Boston's most remarkable schools has greatly broadened in its comparatively young life. Appealing at first to the young men of Boston and immediate vicinity, the present entering class includes young men not only from all over New England, but from New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois as well. The school is now the largest of its kind in this country, and probably in the world. Then enrollment last year was 2300.

SCHOOL PUPILS SAVE NINE MILLIONS

New York, Sept. 14.—School children of the country saved $500,000 during the school year of 1922-23, according to figures announced by the American Bankers' Association.

The savings by children during the last school year showed an increase of $2,500,000 over the previous year.

The ten leading in total savings last year, with the amounts, follow: Pittsburgh, $569,585; Providence, $454,492; Minneapolis, $167,056; Akron, $147,578; Trenton, $158,862; Memphis, $122,075; Wilkesbarre, $121,204; Toledo, $116,043; Rochester, $108,973, and Duluth, $100,856.

the shooting of Peters. The law exempts her from testifying against her husband as to any confidences he may have made to her.

UNHAPPY, NERVOUS.

If Ward murdered Peters and Mrs. Ward knew it, in spite of herself and him it would make her bitterly unhappy and nervous, but she would come into court, just as she has, with her head up. She would grip his big hand, laid carelessly on her knee, with her two small ones, and smile back at him just as she did yesterday.

Pale and outwardly controlled as she greeted him casually when he came into court, she passed as perfectly calm.

She wore a simple Poiret twill dress, lighted by embroidered white collar and cuffs, edged with kolinsky fur, and a close-fitting black hat with a feather was drawn low over her fluffy-light hair. Her jewels were a small string of pearls with a diamond platinum clasp and a platinum wristwatch. Her only ring was a narrow gold band on the third finger of her left hand.

She slipped in unrecognized at first, but not for long and then there was a buzz and craning of heads.

NEAR BREAKDOWN.

The word "murder" and "death penalty" rising above the monotony of questions seemed to tighten her slight body, and once Ralph Ward reached over and put his hand gently on her arm, drawing her back.

When, after five hours of questioning, the seventh juror was accepted and the tension in the crowded room audibly relaxed her composure broke momentarily. She buried her face in her handkerchief, but only a moment. Then vigorously she powdered her nose and flung up her head again to face the court.

Ward, fighting to hold the centre of the picture. But behind stands his wife, as the woman always stands behind when a man like Ward is cornered, trying to reason impersonally, worrying desperately.

The eighth, ninth and tenth tentative jurors were chosen in two hours today.

Mrs. Ward was in the courtroom when her husband was brought in by deputies. She greeted him with a smile and took a seat behind him. Later Ward handed her a letter he had just received. She read it and passed it on Ward's brother, Ralph. It was reported the letter was from George S. Ward, father of the prisoner.

It was chilly in the courtroom and when Isaac N. Mills, chief of Ward's counsel and former Supreme Court Justice lost his black skull cap the examination of veniremen was suspended while all hands joined in a search for it. When it finally was discovered that Mr. Mills had been sitting on the cap, the amusement of the spectators became so audible that Justice Wagner threatened to clear the courtroom.

The parents of the slain sailor, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Peters, of Haverhill, Mass., have been subpoenaed to appear in court next Monday. They will be witnesses for the prosecution, highest bid for the work was $10,411.

READY TO CALL MORE TROOPS IN KLAN WAR

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 14 (A.P.)—New military operations threaten Oklahoma in the war between Governor J. C. Walton and the Ku Klux Klan mob flogcings.

These are the outstanding developments:

Muskogee faces martial law unless W. R. Sampson resigns as Exalted Cyclops of Muskogee Klan, No. 3, together with his secretary. Governor Walton's ultimatum expires at 6 o'clock tonight. Sampson announced that neither he nor his secretary would heed the ultimatum.

Tulsa county will be taken over "completely" by troops unless Sheriff Bob Sanford, Police Commissioner Harry W. Kistaddon and the three members of the county jury commission resign within the next few days.

Oklahoma City and Oklahoma County are next in line for martial law, according to Gov. Walton.

Military censorship will be clamped down on every newspaper in the State that continues to "incite riot" and print matter tending to cause trouble, Governor Walton announced. A censor already has been established in the office of the Tulsa Tribune.

State investigators are running down flogging cases in a number of counties. Martial law will be declared at any place where local authorities show a disposition to protect whippers, it was stated by the Governor.

Dr. J. A. Walker, alleged exalted cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan at Shawnee, and C. M. Reber, former major in the Oklahoma National Guard, are under $5,000 bonds on charges of riot filed by Claude Hendon, county attorney of Pottawattomie County. Dr. Walker and Reber are alleged to have advised and planned the flogging of fourmen at the regular meeting of the Shawnee Klan attended by 600 members.

RANCHER'S WIFE SHOOTS DOWN WIDOW

Childress, Tex., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Albert Whitesides shot and probably fatally wounded Mrs. S. A. Maxwell at the Childress County Fair grounds with virtually all the town's population as eyewitnesses. The affair is unexplained, police reported today.

Mrs. Whitesides, wife of a Hollis, Okla. ranchman, has a daughter two years old and a son seven. Mrs. Maxwell is a widow and the mother of two girls, 15 and 17 years old. Her daughters were at her side when she fell.

Between 500 and 600 persons massed in the grandstand at the fair grounds saw Mrs. Maxwell fall from four pistol wounds. Sheriff Jim Crane was standing but ten feet from Mrs. Whitesides, who after the shooting calmly walked over to the sheriff, surrendering herself.

Mrs. Whitesides, soon after the shooting, made bond of $5,000, which was signed by prominent ranchmen.

METAL POLISHERS RAP ONE BIG UNION

Cincinnati, Sept. 14.—Overwhelming defeat of the One Big Union principle, as sponsored by radical labor leaders, was recorded at the session of the International Metal Polishers' Union in convention here.

Facts and Fashions for New England Men

Our opening announcement for Fall, 1923, presents no radical departure from proven policies. It is intended, rather, to emphasize the fact that this season, as heretofore, any man who would maintain the appearance of a gentleman by wearing good clothes—good in fit, fabric, tailoring and style—can buy such garments for less money here than anywhere else.

Being a strictly cash store both enables us and requires us to give greater values than others. It enables us to do so because buying for cash (and in tremendous quantities for 10 great stores) brings us the lowest wholesale prices and selling for cash relieves us of all charge-account expenses and losses, cuts down our overhead and makes it possible for us to operate on a narrower margin.

Being a cash store requires us to give greater values because no man, unless he can save money by so doing, will pay us cash when he can have his purchases charged almost anywhere else. But the vast proportions to which our business has grown affords ample evidence that men who know good clothes and good values appreciate the combination of the two as found here—for cash.

U. S. CAN'T USE NAVY TO FIGHT RUM RUNNING

Washington, Sept. 14.—The President cannot employ the navy to combat rum runners, Attorney-General Daugherty has formally ruled.

The decision was rendered in response to a request for the late President Harding for a ruling as to whether the prohibition forces might be augmented in this way and the liquor fleet swept from the high seas.

Only in the event of a national emergency would the President be authorized to employ the navy, without the direction of Congress, Attorney-General Daugherty ruled. He expresses the opinion that the situation does not present a "national emergency."

BERLIN CAN PAY $7,140,000 SAYS CUNO

New York, Sept. 14.—Germany can pay no more than 20,000,000,000 gold marks ($7,140,000,000) in reparations, the sum offered in the last proposal made by Berlin, Dr. Carl Joseph Wilhelm Cuno, former Chancellor of Germany, declared today on his arrival on the Reliance.

Dr. Cuno who is President of the Council of the Hamburg-American line, said he was visiting the United States for the fourth time as a private citizen and as a shipping man.

"This was purpose of my trip," he declared, "is to renew personal and business relations with my American friends. As on my previous visits, I have no connection with politics which I definitely left behind when I resigned the office of Chancellor."

WOULD REFUSE EMBASSY.

A business-like, middle-aged man with a perfect command of English, Cuno freely answered questions of reporters.

Before he became chancellor, he said, he had been offered the ambassadorship to the United States several times but refused. Asked if he were coming to relieve Dr. Otto Whitelfe, the present ambassador, he answered: "The office hasn't been offered to me since I resigned as chancellor."

After some hesitation, he said he would refuse the post if it were offered to him now.

The former chancellor denied he was here in the interest of a proposed $1,000,000,000 Inter-allied loan to Germany or to arrange extension of the Hamburg-American and W. A. Harriman shipping combine.

SCOTS AT 'COLLAPSE.'

Informed that Conte Kessler, German spokesman at the recent Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., had predicted several weeks ago that Germany would collapse financially and industrially within a month, Dr. Cuno laughed merrily.

In a formal statement he said:

"The Germans realize that Germany lost the war and that Germany, therefore, must pay for the war. Germany is willing to pay to the limit of her capacity. Life in the Ruhr districts, the industrial heart of Germany, is at a standstill, and until the Ruhr conflict has been settled no one can estimate Germany's capacity to pay."

JOSEPH LEE GETS WAR SERVICE MEDAL

Fifty-two per cent of the distinguished service medals have been given to persons in New England for services rendered the government during the World War. Among those in Boston who received that distinction is Joseph Lee, at one time chairman of the Boston School Board.

FILM STAR IN ROW AT ELLIS ISLAND

New York, Sept. 14.—Because of an attempt on the part of George Beban, motion picture actor, and impersonator of Italian roles, through his director and camera man, to take pictures of immigrants landing at Ellis Island, contrary to an administrative rule, Commissioner of Immigration Henry H. Curran, declared that he would do everything in his power to have Beban placed under arrest.

"I do not believe there has been any violation of the law," said Mr. Beban.

JAP FUND TOTAL IS NOW $29,948

Total gifts received by the Boston Chapter, American Red Cross, for the Japanese earthquake relief amount to $29,948.00 to date. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Peabody gave the principal donation today.

Through error a donation of $10 was first given out as $10,000. This has been corrected in the new total announced today.

DRY AGENTS BEGIN PROBE OF HAIR TONIC AND RUBS

Washington, Sept. 14.—Hair tonics and body rubs will receive closer scrutiny of prohibition agents in future as a result of a report laid before Commissioner Haynes by Divisional Chief Duncan of Minneapolis. He reports seven carloads of these concoctions were seized and found to be nothing more than denatured alcohol intended for redistillation, later to find its way to market as portable liquor.

100 TRUCKS TAGGED IN SEARCHLIGHT TRAP

Setting a trap on Spencer avenue, between Carey avenue and Eleanor street, Chelsea, Inspectors from Registrar Goodwin's office, with Chelsea officers, coralled 100 auto truck drivers. Fifty were found to have defective headlights on their machines, as well as defective mirrors, tail lights and brakes.

ACQUITTED AS "DRAFT DESERTER"

Patrick McCabe of No. 57 Mt. Auburn Street, Watertown, had his name removed from the list of draft deserters after evidence was submitted at the headquarters of the First Corps Area, that he had served honorably in the First Depot Battalion of New Brunswick, Canada, and was discharged at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, July 10, 1919.

Jersey dresses

to answer the Autumn call

ALMOST before we realized it, there came an early Autumn demand for jersey dresses, because women now know how well they have served them in previous seasons, both from the service and style viewpoints.

The Women's and Misses' Inexpensive Dress Shops come forward with many new styles, the one representing a new point of view—more elaborate by reason of the wool embroidery, in gray, navy, brown, tan, henna, Copenhagen, blue, $16.50. Sizes 36 to 44.

Several other styles from $13.75 to $16.50

(Filene's—mail and telephone orders filled—sixth and fourth floors)

You probably have admired this suit

—but did you know it was only $10.95?

A "best seller," if ever there was one! And little wonder, considering its tremendous usefulness and its very low price, $10.95. For both misses and women, in gray, navy, blue and black. Sizes 14 to 20 and 36 to 46.

(Filene's—mail and telephone orders filled—fourth and fifth floors)

—Scottie coats, in both women's and misses' sizes, at shops, $7.50 to $25.00.
—Camels' hair color shirts, $3.75 to $10.50.
—English suede hat, as sketched, $8.50.
—Suede walking pumps, as sketched, $10.

Meet the SCOTTIE coat

—leader of the "shaggy" vogue

Camels' hair seems to be one of those fashions that is just as good year after year. But this year there is a decided change — the camels' hair fashions are deeper, longer-haired, more "shaggy," so to speak, and the "Scottie" coat above is its leader.

LYNN ARTIST IS HELD FOR FIRING SHOT AT WIFE

Henry E. Adams, fifty-five years old, an artist, of No. 15 Saratoga street, Lynn, choked his wife, Annie J., fifty years old, and fired a shot at her with a 32 calibre revolver, when she rebuked him for being intoxicated, the police allege.

Adams was arrested on a charge of drunkenness, and of assault with a dangerous weapon.

According to the police, Mrs. Adams remonstrated with her husband when he returned home drunk, and became disorderly in the house. Adams became angry, and grabbed his wife by the throat and began choking her. Mrs. Adams, terrified, broke loose from her husband, and fled from the house.

Adams followed to the door, and fired a shot at her as she entered the home of a neighbor, the authorities allege.

Neighbors who were enjoying the evening on their porches fled into their homes when Adams fired his revolver, and remained there until the police arrived and took him to the Lynn jail.

As he was placed in his cell, after having tried to persuade the arresting officers to release him, Adams scornfully looked about him, the police say, and remarked: "Well, I guess the Ku Klux Klan must be right. To think you'd arrest a man like me!"

MISS LI NOW STUDENT AT WELLESLEY

Miss Grace Li, daughter of Li Yuan-Kang, President of the Chinese Republic, is a student at Wellesley College. With her chum, Miss Harriet Chou, she has registered for a two-year course in political economy.

Miss Li shattered the traditions of many centuries standing in China, when, as the daughter of a ruler, she left the Republic. Not only did she leave the Republic, but she left unaccompanied, except for a girl friend of her own age. Both Miss Li and Miss Chou are twenty-one years old.

The daughter of the president of China quietly slipped into the college town and rented a bull bedroom in a little boarding house on a side street.

FLOUTS PREJUDICES

The girls came to America and flew into the face of prejudices for no other reason than that they wanted to.

Asked if her father had sent her to Wellesley, Miss Li answered:

"I came to Wellesley because I felt like it. No one tells me what to do."

Miss Li, as one might suspect from her action in coming to America unchaperoned, has notions of her own. A few of them are:

"America has lived up to my expectations.

"I believe in woman suffrage.

"Chinese women are not yet ready for the ballot.

FOND OF YANKEES

The Chinese are fond of the Yankees.

"I've never seen the man I'd want to marry, she explained, when asked whether she expected to wed.

For the past two years she has been a student at the Nankai missionary college at Tien Tsin. She has studied English for six years.

She is short, plump, round faced, rosy cheeked, good natured and vivacious.

SIMPLE TASTES

Her tastes in clothing are simple. When she arrived at Wellesley she wore a jacket of lavender silk, a black skirt, severe shoes and stockings, suggestive of the missionary influence. Her only jewelry was a large diamond solitaire, worn on the fourth finger of her right hand, and a heart-shaped pendant worn about her neck.

Miss Li will enter Columbia University after completing her studies at Wellesley, and before returning to China she will study in England.

That she is entirely alone and without parental supervision during her visit in America, are made evident by the fact that since coming to America Miss Li has seen but one person whom she knew in China. That is Thomas Tong, a brother of her sister-in-law. Tong is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

'MISS BOSTON' TO SIT FOR PORTRAIT

Miss Margaret L. Black, winner of the Boston American's Charming Girl Tournament, has returned to her home in Dorchester.

She is planning on going to New York in a few days to sit for her portrait by Dean Cornwell, one of the artist judges at the Atlantic City pageant. She has also been offered several positions in New York as a model.

Despite all the honors bestowed upon her during the pageant, Peggy's head has not been turned. She is the same unassuming young woman as when she left the Hub.

"It has all been like a dream," she said to a Boston American reporter upon her return home. "I had a really wonderful time, enjoying every minute of my stay in Atlantic City. I made a great many friends and received so many invitations to different places that I'd be going until doomsday if I accepted all of them.

"I never saw so many pretty girls in my life. We who lost in the beauty contests were all good losers. In addition to receiving several offers to model in New York I received many matrimonial proposals, but I declined them all."

AUTO DEATH LIST IN CONNECTICUT GROWS

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 14.—Automo-

ROLLED IN OIL, DECLARES WIFE

Lawrence, Sept. 14.—Judge Dubuque took under advisement in the Superior Court here today a petition of Raffale Porfido of this city for a divorce from Mrs. Giovanna Porfido on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment.

In a denial of her husband's charges Mrs. Porfido said that her husband had frequently expressed a desire to get rid of her and that he had once emptied a large quantity of kerosene on the floor and had rolled her in it. She charged that another time he pierced her hand with a fork because he found a piece of thread in the food, and that on another occasion he threw a teapot at her, which struck her son.

She denied attempting to stab him, saying that he had accidentally run against a knife which she was using to carve some meat, and that once he had seriously injured his thumb when he tried to hurl a telephone instrument at her.

COLD WAVE PART OF NEW WINTER SAY SHARPS

The present cold wave is classified by the government weather sharps as definitely a part of the new Winter.

The Summer sluggishness of air pressure movement has passed, and the quicker succession of areas of high and low, bringing more marked and rapid changes in temperatures, has begun.

The Eastward movement from North Dakota last night of a center of high pressure brought record low temperatures for this time of year at La Cross, where the thermometer registered 30 degrees, at Milwaukee where it was 38 and at Cincinnati with 40.

Lower temperatures are expected tonight in the Atlantic States and there will be frost in the Ohio Valley, lower Lake Region, North Atlantic States and the mountain districts of the Middle Atlantic section.

Rising temperatures are forecast for the Ohio valley and the lower lake region tomorrow, but the cold weather is expected to continue to the eastward over Sunday.

Frosts were reported today in Northern New England, Northern New York, the region of the Great Lakes, Ohio, Indiana, Northern and Central Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, but the temperature was rising over the Northwestern States, due to the inflow of warm southern air into the low pressure area. A subsequent area of high pressure which is developing in the polar regions and is expected to follow the low has not given indications, Weather Bureau officials asserted, that it will be as intense as the high area now passing over the eastern section of the country.

McKeans Both Noted Additions to "Who's News" Series by Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

WHEN the works of George Luks the New York artist were exhibited last month at the interesting studio of Mr. and Mrs. Q. A. Shaw McKean, they had a most creditable setting.

For the mistress of "Pride's Hill Kennels"—as the McKean place is called—is herself an artist of no mean ability, and the studio which has been arranged for her there is one of great beauty.

"Pride's Hill Kennels" is located in the Marblehead section of Boston's suburbs, and both Mr. and Mrs. McKean we add to our "Who's News" Among the North Shore.

As for the studio where Mrs. McKean, who was formerly Miss Margaret Wheaton Sargent, spends so much of her time, it's a very large room with an open ceiling to the roof, a balcony staircase and some very rare pieces of furniture. Mrs. McKean is especially gifted at studio-lighting.

If the former Miss Sargent is interested in art, her husband is equally interested in the blue-blooded and pert little wire-haired fox terriers which enliven things at "Pride's Hill Kennels." Recently Mr. McKean added considerably to his list of these fine little dogs and his kennels are becoming very well known.

Even before Mr. McKean joined the ranks of bachelors he kept "bachelor hall" at "Pride's Hill Kennels." When, just a few years ago he brought his talented bride there, a large wing was added to make possible the attractive studio where Mrs. McKean spends so many busy hours. Recently an old-fashioned garden has been planted, further heightening the charm and quaintness of the place, which, by the way, is one of the oldest in the Beverly region.

Mr. and Mrs. McKean, whose town house is on Marlboro street, are I believe, sailing this month for a Winter travel abroad.

MR. AND MRS. HUGH B. BANCROFT and their daughter, Miss Jessie Bancroft, have been stopping recently in New York at the Ambassador Hotel.

PHILIP L. SALTONSTALL, who's pictured above on one of his favorite polo mounts, has been spending the Summer with his family at Marblehead Neck. Mrs. Saltonstall was formerly Miss Kathryn Lapham.

During the season, Philip Saltonstall plays in the Dedham polo team. The Winter home of the Saltonstalls is on Chestnut street.

A NUMBER of young women are planning a rummage sale to be held today in Odd Fellows hall, Marblehead. Among those lending their aid for the affair, the proceeds of which will go to the Children's Hospital, are the Misses Rosamond Gardiner, Katherine Gray, Constance Perical, Molly Walcott, Constance Dane, Elizabeth Gardiner and Barbara Percival.

DR. AND MRS. J. HENRY LANCASHIRE and their daughter, Miss Lila Lancashire, of the New York colony in Manchester, have left the North Shore for a ten-day motor trip to Canada. They will go to Montreal by way of the White Mountains, coming back through Vermont.

LYNN "KLAN" LETTER LAID TO ITALIANS

An alleged Ku Klux warning was received by George and James Caracostis, Greek restaurateurs of Union and Buffum streets, Lynn, ordering them to leave Lynn, under penalty of whatever action the Klan might determine to take. They notified the police and declared they had no enemies and knew of no offence that they had given anyone. According to the police, the letter was apparently sent by Italians. If such was the case, they said, it is the first instance of Greek-Italian animosity since the recent disturbance in Europe.

GLOUCESTER COPS GET $2,000 IN RUM

Gloucester, Sept. 14.—Gloucester police are expected on a number of alleged rum-running centres and seizes liquor valued at $2,000. Arrests will be made shortly.

The first house visited was that of Thomas S. Patten, in Lanesville.

Armed with a John Doe warrant, the officers visited a number of places at No. 53 Main street. The proprietors of which have left several gallons of alcohol were seized.

At the home of Salvatore Bulkas, in Lanesville, forty cases of good whiskey, buried in the garden, were seized.

HERE'S 'NOTHER BATCH OF LOCAL LAFS

MESSAGE TO MOTHERS
ABOUT DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR
At 820 W. Hayward Ave., Ines Mrs. Henry Johnson, who a few weeks ago wrote what may be termed a good message to all mothers. She said: "I have used Dr. True's Elixir for more than ten years and know it is good." She used Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, to rid her children of worms. There is hardly a child but what needs Dr. True's Elixir, for they all usually have worms when growing up. Mrs. Johnson appreciates what Dr. True's Elixir accomplishes. Your children will be in better health through its use. Symptoms to watch: Constipation, offensive breath, slow fever, biliousness, pains in stomach, red points on tongue, swollen upper lip, starting during sleep with troublesome dreams. 40c—60c—$1.20.

OFFICER LANDS 2 AFTER PISTOL BATTLE

Gertie Hayes' Love Notes Read in Court

COP DISARMS FIGHTING GUNMAN

Under Fire, Turns Gun on Second Assailant; Lands Both in Cells

Patrolman Harrison A. Dugan of the Mattapan police arrested Edward P. Simpson of 199 Walker street, St. Louis, Mo., today following a gun fight at No. 35 Havelock street, Dorchester.

LATER GETS PAL.

Later Dugan arrested Charles Leventhal at the latter's home, No. 424 Washington street, Dorchester. Leventhal had also participated in the gun fight on Havelock street, but fled when Dugan disarmed Simpson. Dugan also secured a small motor truck containing some worth of dry goods which the Brockton police say was stolen from a store in that city.

Dugan saw the truck standing on Havelock street before daylight and went toward it. The two men on the driver's seat jumped out and fled to No. 35. Dugan gave chase and in the house was confronted by Simpson, who thrust a gun into Dugan's midriff, threatening to shoot if the policeman did not "let go."

Dugan grabbed Simpson's wrist and turned the gun away. Leventhal then fired a shot at the struggling officer but it went wild. Before he could fire again Dugan had gained possession of Simpson's gun and turned it on Leventhal, who fled.

A ride was to the police station on Morton street. Simpson struggled with the officer and was not subdued until he was locked in a cell. The officer then went to Leventhal's house and took him out of bed.

Inspector Thomas Regan and Sergeant W. S. Chandler of the Brockton police came to Boston today to interview Simpson and Leventhal. Regan said that the Gordon Seaton garment factory in Brockton was entered last night, the safe blown and rifled and $2500 worth of dress goods taken.

The previous night the Brockton Emporium, a dry goods store, was burglarized.

Regan and Chandler said today four large quantities of the dress goods taken from the Gordon Seaton factory cached in a field in East Brockton. The thieves, they said, had overloaded their truck and had hidden some of the load, intending to return for it tonight.

DRY CHIEF AGREES TO DAUGHERTY RULING

Washington, Sept. 14. — Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, issued a statement today saying that Attorney General Daugherty's opinion that the navy cannot be used in a campaign against rum ships was "undoubtedly a correct construction of the law."

Hongkong, Sept. 14 (AP)—Chinese in Japan have sent letters to the Chinese Chamber of Commerce in Tsuchwan Hospital Committee in Hongkong, the Chinese Press Association pleading of alleged discrimination in the treatment accorded Chinese in Chinese earthquake sufferers.

Chinese refugees numbering [illegible] most of them women and children have arrived here on the liner Empress of Canada. Representatives of various Chinese and British organizations met them and distributed them among boarding houses [illegible].

6 KILLED AS JOBLESS RIOT IN GERMANY

Beuthen, Germany, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—Six persons were killed and a score wounded in unemployment riots here today. Crowds then tried to storm the Town Hall. Many shots were fired in clashes between police and rioters. The coal miners went on strike.

PRINCE LOVE SHY; GIRLS TAKE HOPE

Canadian and Yankee Debs Still Have Chance; Wales Dodges Wedding Bells

Quebec, Sept. 14.—The tumult of heart-beats caused by the Prince of Wales on this continent, in the season of his visit, is very apt to be repeated.

The last time the Prince came, over, he was a bachelor, and the hope which springs eternal in the human breast [illegible] to many a shy young dreamer that perhaps—who knows—stranger things have happened. He is still very much a bachelor.

The Prince [illegible] now en route to Prince of Wales the E. P. ranch in Alberta, near Calgary, traveling as Lord Renfrew, is positively fancy free and heart whole.

At the very mention of the word fiancee the Prince lost his characteristic calm.

DODGES WEDDING BELLS

"Good heavens, he has [illegible] eight already. Or did when I last counted. [illegible] engaged. Marriage [illegible] connected in the future [illegible] ture.

Why did I choose the Rockies [illegible] Canada and the Andes? Oh, it was just an idea of mine—I do have an idea once in a while.

"The passage over was delightful, but nothing but salt water [illegible] speaking of waters: His Royal Highness praised it highly as a beverage.

"Sweetheart, I must go to bed. I'll be a good girl for you, dear, but don't mistrust me, dearest one. Good night.

"BABY."

By artful questioning, Mr. Welch endeavored to find out who Miss Hayes meant when she referred to "His Nibs." He could not wring from her the admission that it was Mr. Laffey. It is a fact, however, that she met Mr. Laffey in a Boston theatre while she was playing here.

MAYOR ASKS LODGE TO GET AIR MAIL HERE

Continuing his efforts to have [illegible] airmail service, Mayor Curley today appealed by telegram to Senator Lodge [illegible] urging [illegible] from Maine [illegible] Washington [illegible] Boston [illegible] Senator Lodge [illegible] Boston may be included in the postal air service zone.

"The airport established at Boston is the largest and most favorable located of any in America and in addition is one day nearer Europe and immediate action should be productive of real results."

The Mayor's message to Senator Lodge said:

"I trust it will be possible for you to secure the united support of all [illegible] of Congress from Massachusetts in order that Boston may be included in the postal air service zone.

"The airport established at Boston is the largest and most favorable located of any in America and in addition is one day nearer Europe and immediate action should be productive of real results."

NAB 7, BELIEVE COUNTERFEIT GANG BROKEN

Providence, Sept. 14.—With the arrest [illegible] Kingston, Pawtucket, Providence and New London, United States secret service operatives [illegible] believe they have broken up a counterfeiting gang which has been operating in the four grounds to New London and [illegible] the New London [illegible] rested them as they were taking a boat for New York shortly before midnight.

Joe Lawrence of Pond street, South Attleboro, was arrested yesterday at the state fair, Kingston, after it is claimed he passed a $20 bill in Peace Dale. Secret service men from Boston and the Pawtucket police arrested Joe Meache, South Attleboro; Mike Marino, Pawtucket; Julius Alvis, Pawtucket, and Angelo Lunetti, Shore. John R. Wilcox of Kingston trailed Patsy Tomeo and Georgianna Al[illegible] both of Swan[illegible] when the four [illegible] Tomeo and Georgianna Alexander [illegible] both of South Attleboro, were arrested [illegible] the four grounds to New London [illegible] the New London [illegible] rested them as they were taking a boat for New York shortly before midnight.

ITALY DEMANDS NEW PARLEY ON FIUME

Belgrade, Sept. 14. — The Italian Charge d'Affaires here informed the Jugo-Slavia government of Premier Mussolini's desire that direct negotiations between Rome and Belgrade regarding Fiume be resumed.

No decision has yet been reached here but the resumption of negotiations on a fresh basis is considered possible.

Italy to Annex Fiume, but Quit Port Barros

Paris, Sept. 14 (A.P.)—When Premier Mussolini declares the annexation of Fiume to Italy he will announce the withdrawal of the Italian troops from Porto Barros, the adjoining harbor, it is learned here from an authoritative quarter. He will thus give up any claim to that port, to Russak and to the delta there, which will be left to Jugo-Slavia.

This, it is stated, is the result of direct negotiations now going on between Premier Mussolini and the Jugo-Slav government, which are reported as about the point of completion. Jugo-Slavia, being satisfied to have a free hand in the development of the ports left to it.

Corfu Believes Her Saint Angered by Invasion

Corfu, Sept. 14.—Inhabitants of Corfu attribute another miracle to their revered St. Spiridion, whose body, entombed in the Cathedral here, is exposed periodically at various religious functions and carried in procession through the town.

There is now a general belief among the common people that the saint has locked himself up in his casket because he is angered at the occupation of the town by the Italians.

Italy Agrees to Quit Corfu by Sept. 27

Paris, Sept. 14. (A.P.)—The international commission which will investigate the Janina murders leaves for Albania today under orders to conduct as vigorous an inquiry as possible.

A step which the Council of Ambassadors believes "will put an end to the situation created by the assassination of the Italian delegates" was taken when Italy agreed to evacuate Corfu before the end of this month, possibly by September 27.

The ambassadors are also understood to have decided that if on the day set for the evacuation the Commission of Inquiry thinks Greece has not done everything in her power to bring the assassins to justice, Italy shall receive the deposit of 50,000 lire made by Greece under the terms of settlement decided upon by the council.

By Universal Service

South Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 14 — Lured by a report that his friend, Leonora Hughes, famous dancing partner of Maurice, had been injured at Greenwich, Conn., Walter Lewisohn, wealthy banker and copper magnate, was forcibly placed in an insane asylum and has been held there since May 22, it was charged in habeas corpus proceedings here.

The proceedings were started by Jeremiah J. Toomey of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Lewisohn's counsel. Toomey said he had only recently heard of his client's predicament through a letter from him. Numerous letters written by Lewisohn, he said, had never reached the attorney.

COUNSEL SEEKS RELEASE.

Toomey said Lewisohn, in his letter, reported that two men approached him in New York and told him Miss Hughes had been seriously hurt in Greenwich. When he arrived at the Blythewood Sanitarium he said he was seized and has been held in a barred room since.

The application for release was withdrawn on a recommendation of Judge Walsh, before whom the application was brought at South Norwalk, according to advices received here.

Judge Walsh made his recommendation after he had called witnesses in the proceeding and visited Lewisohn at the sanitarium, and determined that Toomey's charges had been complied.

ACTION IS HELD UP.

Mr. Toomey said Lewisohn had written friends that he was being held against his will and that he brought the action to get at the facts. He and Judge Walsh learned, he said, that Lewisohn had last May signed voluntary commitment of himself to the institution and had recently signed a letter asking that Toomey stop his efforts to obtain his release.

Mr. Toomey, in making application for the writ, told Judge Walsh Lewisohn had said he had been tricked into the sanitarium.

READ ON. THE THRILLS COME FAST

MADAM [illegible] fore he has made his debut?"

[illegible] one of her beautiful white hands [illegible] of the [illegible]

[illegible] world lies here in the United States. New York is the [illegible]

[illegible] particularly fine for politi[illegible] intrigue. If [illegible] were Washington [illegible] Washington [illegible] only one of the islands out[illegible] of New York. So is Chicago, Boston, the rest of them. [illegible] And don't imagine [illegible] not be[illegible] [illegible] acted with writing as soon as you write in your style.

[illegible] let up every moment [illegible]

"But I detest writing" said Madame Zattiany, who was lying back and watching her smoke rings. "I like the actual doing, and I have had no experience for three hours, whether you accomplish anything or not. Before long you will find that you [illegible] Inspiration. And you will have Clavey to criticize you. The rest is only stern self-discipline. Here is another suggestion: when you have brain fag go to bed for two days and starve. The result is marvelous."

"So, that is the way American writers are made. There are so many of them—I had often wondered——"

"No, but at all." Miss Dwight rushed to the defense of native [illegible] "Writers [illegible] are [illegible] born, often go through a period of torture while forming habits of regular [illegible]

"It sounds like torture!" She gave Gora a glance of lazy amusement. "Really, Miss Dwight! Are you trying to frighten me off?"

But Gora did not blush. If she chose to concentrate her whole mind on acting, the accomplished actress opposite could give her few points. She replied with convincing emphasis: "Certainly not. What an old idea. I have the most enormous respect for your abilities, and you should be born for something besides beauty—and I should like to see you live down mere notoriety."

"I've loved the notoriety, and rather regret that it seems to have lost flavor with time. But I'll never make a writer. Miss Dwight has not the least intention of trying."

"But surely you'll not be content to be just Leo's wife? Why, practically every woman in our crowd does something. There used to be a superstition that two brain-workers could not live comfortably under the same roof, but as a matter of fact we've proved that a woman keeps her husband far longer if her brain is as productive as his. Each inspires and interests the other. Another old cliche gone to the dust bin. Our sort of men want something more from a woman than good housekeeping. Not that men no longer want to be comfortable, but the clever women of today have learned to combine both."

"Marvellous age and marvellous America! Don't you think I could keep Leo interested without grinding away at my desk for three hours every morning and lying in hungry misery for days at a time?"

"You could keep any man interested. I wasn't thinking of him, but of you. He has more than a man's entitled to already. Men are selfish brutes, and I waste no sympathy on them. It's women who have the rotten deal in this world, the best of them. And men are as vain as they are selfish. It's an enormous advantage for a woman to have her own reputation and her own separate life. No man should be able to feel that he possesses a woman wholly. He simply can't stand it."

"Quite right. Discarding modesty, I may add that I am an old hand at that game."

Gora regarded her with frank admiration, wholly unassumed. "Oh, you couldn't lose Clavey if you tried. He is mad about you. We can all see that, and I knew it before he did himself. It's only—really—that I'm afraid you'll be bored to death with so much shop if you don't set up one for yourself."

"Oh, I never intend to be bored again as long as I live." Mary Zattiany was a very shrewd woman and she determined on a bold stroke. Her suspicion lingered, but had lost its edge. Gora Dwight was deep and subtle, but there was no doubt that she was honorable. "I shall tell you something," she said, "but you must give me your word that you will not betray me—not even to Leo."

Miss Dwight's mind, not her body, gave a slight stir of unsalutary. But she answered warmly: "Of course I promise."

"Very well, then. It is this. I shall never return to America. I sail in a fortnight. Leo follows soon after, and we shall be married in Austria."

"But—but—his play!" Miss Dwight was too startled to act. "He must be here for rehearsals. Some one has said that plays are not written, they're rewritten, and it's pretty close to [illegible]

"I shall consent to [illegible] ing in time for rehearsals [illegible] longed honeymoons are [illegible] It is better to [illegible] sees. I fancy the scenes [illegible] hold out inducements [illegible] spaced. Moreover, being a modest myself, a like new machine. As he will be too busy to miss me I shall be equally busy in Vienna.

"But will he consent? Leo He's not used to having his plans made for him. He's about the most domineering male I know."

"I feel sure he will when the time comes. It is woman's particular gift, you know, to exercise the dominating [illegible] wants what she wants."

Gora laughed. But she knew could turn mental somersaults [illegible] think it a splendid arrangement. Then we should not [illegible] together, for we really are devoted to him. He is an [illegible] for all his absurdities. But I could endure the thought of losing you a setting"

"You must pay me [illegible] in Vienna. Many years. I am sure you that you will find material there, under my guidance for a really great novel."

Gora [illegible] an artist at one [illegible] that! How [illegible] a setting"

"Yes, Austria is the most [illegible] setting country [illegible] most beautiful to look at—and describe."

"It will be heavenly." [illegible] made up her mind to [illegible] she would waste no time to stop this marriage. [illegible] ly appealed to her, and [illegible] saw new impulses to creation. The Election in Portland

Little to Disturb Voters Because the Klan Happened to Be Winning Side

After consideration of the results of the election in the city of Portland, Maine, we feel that there is little about it which is disturbing to the voters. The majority of the American people do not believe in religious or racial prejudice or in the interference in political affairs of a democracy of secret organizations.

The only thing that should be secret in the political bodies of the American government—national, State and municipal—is the actual voting of the individual. Everything else should be out where the fierce light of the day may beat upon it. No arguments should ever be made in secret; no argument should ever be received in secret; no consideration of any character should ever be given or received in secret.

The Ku Klux Klan, as we are informed concerning their principles and practices, are opposed to the most fundamental principles of our American democracy, and it is beyond belief that a majority of the people of an old American city like Portland, Maine, should cast its votes in favor of such an organization.

The idea was shocking when it was first announced by the newspaper headlines. A consideration of the issues and an examination of the vote indicate to us that the klan at best merely happened to be on the side of the majority—trying to be "strong on the stronger side."

The adoption of the commission form of government and the dissatisfaction of the old-fashioned Mayor and Board of Aldermen by a majority of the citizens has been going on all over the country pretty steadily. A generation or two of corruption of our city government by the public utilities, such as our electric light and gas companies, our street railways, railroads, and our telephone and telegraph companies, has sickened people of the old-fashioned form of city government, as if the form of government determined necessarily its character. Pope's lines are often true: "For forms of government let fools contest; whate'er is best administer'd is best."

A majority of the good people of Portland had become tired of the kind of government they had been receiving and they thought they could improve it by changing its form and giving it a business character. So a majority have determined to change.

Now it happens that the Ku Klux Klan claims that they also voted for the change. Perhaps they did. But whether they did or did not does not change the fact that the adoption of the commission form of government was by a majority of the people of Portland who never had anything to do with the klan.

We have no doubt that there are very many worthy people who are members of the Ku Klux Klan throughout the country and that their objects are wholly patriotic, even though they are painfully mistaken. It is the presence of such men which will prevent the Ku Klux Klan from becoming a serious menace, for they will never permit—while they are members of the klan—any overt act of treason.

But in their blindness they are permitting practices and are participating in the practices which alarm a large part of our citizens and create an exceedingly bad public psychology.

Did We Once Live on Moon?

And Shall We Move On to the Sun Some Fine Day

The most interesting of all questions, it seems to us, are such as these

Whence did we come?

Whither are we going?

And, by the way, what are we? Are we of any true importance? Are we a permanent part of the universal scheme, privileged to move along through the ages and see the end as we have seen the beginning? Or are we, as advanced science says, merely like the weevil in the biscuit—no part of the baker's plan?

A great scientist, coldly analyzing the chemical processes essential to the creation of each new human being, scoffs at any possibility of immortality. With the microscope at his eye, he magnifies nature's mysteries; he sums up the investigations of the Hertwig brothers; he discourses learnedly of the nucleolus, of the Cytula—or progeny cell. He declares that science is able to watch the creation of a human being, as it watches the progress of a chick in the egg. He asserts that each new creature is merely the result of a chemical process blending qualities of the mother and father. Having a "final beginning," man must have a final end. Man—a mixture of two sets of qualities—has no more chance of immortality than has beer, which is, or used to be, a mixture of malt and hops.

We subscribe to no part of all this. In fact, we did not mean to renew this day our discussion of immortality. We have another suggestion to offer—if we ever manage to get at it.

The sun is now a blazing mass, inconceivably huge, inconceivably fierce in our eyes. Its flames leap hundreds of thousands of miles into space. If our earth fell to the sun it would melt as a snowflake falling upon a blazing forest. We certainly do not readily look upon the sun as our future home, if we accept its present condition as permanent.

But once upon a time, hundreds of millions of years back, this earth used to look TO THE MOON, on a smaller scale, as the sun now looks to us. If there were on the moon at that time inferior human beings, in a low state of cosmic evolution, they undoubtedly had to thank the earth for their life, as we thank the sun. To them the earth, then incandescent, blazing with the heat that now reveals itself through volcanoes, was simply a whirling ball of fire, put in its place to warm them.

They could no more think that men would ever come to live here than we can now think of moving on to the sun.

But in course of time this earth cooled off. It cooled so thoroughly that the moon died of cold. Life could not longer continue there. The dead satellite's destiny thenceforward was to show gratitude for past heat by moving our tides and cheering our poets. As life died out on the cold moon which had given us temporary hospitality, life sprang into being on this planet, now fitted to support it.

Meanwhile, as we struggle on, improving slowly, the sun, as science proves, is cooling off in its turn. The flames become less fierce as the hundreds of centuries roll by. When we shall have developed as much as possible on this limited planet, our home will be cooled and ready on the sun, centre of our life in this corner of space.

Have we any proof of this? Not the slightest—yet just as good proof as can be brought to show that God let a monkey walking up hill determine the erect position of man.

Keep Smiling

Editor Boston American:

Don't you think the best thing in the world to put a person in good spirits is just a little smile? I do. My policy is "Have a smile for every one you meet, and they will have a smile for you." I have never seen it fail yet, and you will. I almost every one is ready to return your smile. I am not a "mush" at least not more so than the next girl, but just a girl happy in the tremendous joy of living.

Editor Boston American:

I'm fifty-four, considered as going down the other side of life's hill and most certainly not to be looked upon as a desirable catch. Incidently, and without ego, I was considered fairly good looking when a youngster, but I surely have passed that stage now. Nevertheless I seldom enter a subway train without some of these silly flappers of subway vamps, as I have heard them called, trying to flirt with me.

Plea for School Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if you could help mama to get us some dresses for school. There are nine of us children and papa has poor pay and was sick all Winter. We have a lot of back bills and I can't have clothes like other little girls have. I am ten years old. My sisters are six and three years old and my brothers are fifteen, fourteen, twelve, nine, four and two years old. Will you please help me to go to school? Mama would like some clothes, some shoes. She wears size 42 waist and shoes size 5½. I hope I am not asking too much.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON HEAT OF THE STARS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

"Is it true that astronomers can measure the heat received by the earth from a single star in the sky?—Reader."

YES, it is true. Dr. C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution has, for instance, recently measured the heat coming from the star Capella, which may be seen flashing low in the northeast in September evenings. This star, one of the most beautiful in the heavens, closely resembles the sun in the character of the radiations that it sends out. It is, however, a much larger sun than ours, but being nearly 2,500,000 times as far away the effect of its radiation as compared with that of the sun is reduced in the inverse ratio of the square of 2,500,000 to 1.

Dr. Abbot found that its heat is equivalent to one-horse power a foot-and-over an area equal to that of the State of Minnesota, whereas the heat from the sun is equivalent to one-horse power of energy distributed over twenty square feet. On the whole surface of the earth exposed to it at one time, Capella sheds an amount of heat equivalent to five hundred horse power.

It is estimated that from all the stars in the sky, taken together, the earth receives about 5,000,000 horse-power of radiant energy. This seems large if we are not careful to note that it is distributed over an entire hemisphere of the earth. When we introduce that consideration we see that the amount at any one point must be quiteexceedingly slight.

We have remarked that the amount of heat received from the whole host of the stars is only about five hundred times as great as that which Capella alone sends. Yet there are hundreds of millions of stars, and many thousands of them are much greater than Capella. If they were all as near as Capella perhaps we should perceive the effect of their united radiations even without the aid of extremely sensitive instruments. But the very large stars are also very remote, many of them being so far away that telescopes are required in order that we may see them at all.

If a star a thousand times as great as Capella in radiant energy is only as much as thirty-two times as far away, it sheds upon the earth no more light or heat than does Capella. This fact arises from the law that inverse squares, which governs the effect of radiant energy at varying distances, are the law that lies at the very foundation of astronomy.

The larger star, being thirty-two times as far away, has one divided by the square of thirty-two, i. e., 1-1024, of the effect on the earth, unit per unit, that Capella has; but since it possesses one thousand times the intrinsic radiant power of Capella, the two accounts balance one against the other.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

STRANGE LIFE OF HORTENSE BONAPARTE

By Mark Stuyvesant

WHEN Hortense Beauharnais' mother, Josephine Beauharnais, married Napoleon Bonaparte, Hortense was a milliner's apprentice.

Her father had been guillotined and her mother cast into prison on account of their adherence to the Girondist party which opposed the Terror.

When Josephine married Napoleon, Hortense was placed in a fashionable school conducted by one of the maids-of-honor of Marie Antoinette. Here she learned the social accomplishments considered necessary in that day.

Hortense was an unusually beautiful and charming girl. At one of the receptions at the Palace of the Luxembourg, while her stepfather was First Consul, Hortense met and fell in love with General Duroc, one of the most distinguished of Napoleon's generals. He was just twenty-one and very handsome. He adored Hortense.

But this marriage was not regal enough to suit Napoleon. He insisted that Hortense marry his brother Louis, hoping that in this way an heir might be born having the blood of both the Bonaparte and the Beauharnais families in his veins.

To thwart the marriage of Hortense and her soldier lover, Napoleon sent Duroc the following message:

"Tell him that if he weds my stepdaughter his will have to wed her with only a dowry of 5oo francs and that I will give him an appointment which will necessitate his residence in Toulon, whither he must take his wife, and that henceforth he and I shall be strangers."

The pressure was too great. The lovers parted—both brokenhearted. In a dulled state of mind, Hortense married Louis.

Hortense, during the first seven years of her marriage, bore three sons, the eldest living only until he was five years old.

Louis was made King of Holland, and there in the palace at The Hague, the King and his Queen lived in misery.

When Napoleon divorced Josephine, Louis and Hortense begged to be divorced. But Napoleon would not hear of it.

After Napoleon's exile, Hortense and her two sons, who were now men, were forced to move from place to place. The allies who controlled France would not permit her residence in her own country.

Insisted Hortense Marry His Brother

When Louise Philippe came to the throne, Hortense, who had lost her eldest living son in a riot in Italy, went to the King and begged to be allowed to remain in Paris. But, although received kindly by the King, she was asked to leave the country, where upon she fled to England.

When she died, Hortense did not know that she was the mother of an emperor, for her son became Napoleon the Third.

THREE-MINUTE TRIPS

WHERE WOMEN OWN PROPERTY

By Temple Manning

TO be in the little city of Fort de Kock in the highlands of Sumatra on a market day is an experience which the traveler will never forget.

As many as thirty thousand people assemble to make their purchases at the picturesque little shops and bazaars, transact business and exchange ideas. To the stranger it seems as though every person was carrying something on his head. And this is practically the case, for the Malay finds it easier to balance his purchases on his head than to carry them in his arms.

Buffaloes play an important part in the architectural designs of some of the Malay houses. For the wide branching rafters which extend out to each side of the roofs of these houses imitate buffalo horns.

The builders of these houses are a tribe whose name, Menangkabus, means "Victory of the Buffalo." The history of this conquest is interesting.

It is believed by this romantic people that when Alexander the Great died the universe was divided in three equal parts. Over each ruled a sultan—the Sultan of Sumatra.

At this time there was a great conflict between the rulers of Java and Sumatra. And to settle the controversy two buffaloes were chosen and pitted against each other in battle, the winning buffalo deciding the victory.

It was the buffalo chosen by the Sumatrans which was successful, and from that time this highland tribe was known as the Menangkabus because of the "Victory of the Buffalo."

This interesting tribe, although they still cling to many of their customs and traditions which have been handed down through the centuries.

Among these the most unique is the tracing of genealogy through the female side of the family. Here it is the woman who stamps the family with her personality and name as the head of the house of Malay. The entire order of life is matriarchal. It is the old grandmother who presides in state over her descendants. And it is on her daughter that this mantle of dignity falls at the death of the grandmother.

To such a degree is the matriarchial system carried out and observed among this old race of the Orient, that all property belongs to the women.

Although an almost primitive race, these Menangkabus operate upon a system of Woman's Rights for which their western sisters have struggled for years—and yet they still pound grain to make flour.

What the Wife Saw Through the Forbidden Keyhole

"Yours Affectionately, Topsy," Read the Telltale Scrawl on the Bathing Beauty's Photo; Was It the Motive in the Swagger Lieutenant's Slaying?

Photo of Lieutenant James C. Rickner Which He Gave Mrs. Rickner, with This Inscription: "To the dearest, prettiest, most wonderful pal in the world, my wife."

Mrs. Evelyn Rickner, Wife of the Slain Lieutenant, with Her Four-Year-Old Daughter, Marilynn, Who Was Present at His Death.

JIMMY RICKNER, six feet two, blond, handsome, Brown University graduate and Army polo crack, is dead—a bullet drilled through his heart. Evelyn, his girl-wife of the soft hair and dove's eyes, has said no word since, with the revolver smoking in her hand, she cried, "I've just shot Rick!" Their daughter, Marilynn, only witness to the tragedy, cannot tell the jury what she saw because she is only four.

And so, when Evelyn Rickner goes to her final trial on a charge of murder, the key to the killing that has stirred the South may lie in the torn, crumpled photograph of a girl in a bathing suit, across which a woman's hand once wrote, "Yours affectionately, Topsy."

This picture, mutilated as though by frenzied fingers, was found, it is said, on the floor of Lieutenant Rickner's room in "Bachelor Hall," the officers' quarters of the Eighteenth Infantry at Camp McClellan, Alabama, which no woman of the regiment was allowed to enter.

Mrs. Rickner, however, did enter the forbidden hall a few hours before the shooting. Witnesses—so the rumor runs—will testify that she stooped and glanced through the keyhole, went in and came out a few moments later—only a little while before her husband was shot—with tears streaming down her cheeks.

The picture of "Topsy" cannot talk. But if it could, say Rickner's brother officers, it would tell an amazing story, reaching back more than a year to a romantic wooing on the banks of the Rhine in Germany, and ending with a pistol shot that broke the quiet of a Summer evening in the Alabama post and brought the guard running to the big reception room of "Bachelor Hall."

There, before the eyes of the startled men, was Rickner leaning against the wall, his knees buckling as he slid to the floor, one hand pressed to a spot in the center of his shirt from which the blood flowed; his wife, confronting him ten or fifteen feet away, the weapon in her hand; and baby Marilynn standing between them, uncertain whether to laugh or cry.

A pause of horror gripped the audience. Then Lieutenant Rickner slid to his knees. Marilynn called out, "Look! Daddy's fell down!" Captain Craig sprang to lower Rickner gently to the floor. The girl-wife thrust the revolver toward another officer.

"Take this," she said. "I've just shot Rick. I'll be in my quarters if anybody wants me."

Nothing more is definitely known of the events in the hall immediately preceding the shooting. All that Rickner said before he fell unconscious was: "D——— that woman! She shot me! Get that woman, boys!"

But, with the discovery of the torn photograph of "Topsy," with the contrast between it and another photograph of himself Rickner gave Mrs. Rickner, across which he had written, "To the dearest, prettiest, most wonderful pal in the world, my wife"—with the piecing together of these tiny bits of evidence to the story of Mrs. Rickner stooping and looking through the keyhole, a dramatic series of episodes has come to light.

Torn Photo of the Bathing Beauty, Signed "Yours Affectionately, Topsy," Said to Have Been Found on the Floor of Lieutenant Rickner's Room.

Overseas, where the doughboys at Coblenz kept the last Watch On the Rhine, it was not known among his comrades that Rickner was married, or that there was a daughter back home. The men who knew him best say he worked and played through the routine of the Army of Occupation as "Rick," a quiet, but thoroughly likable, young fellow with a love for polo.

"Rick," they say, offered no evidence of domestic ties in the States to interfere with an ardent attachment he formed for a pretty English girl who had come to Coblenz in some capacity—whether as tourist, entertainer or service worker they were not sure.

This girl was "Topsy," original of many pictures that came to adorn the Coblenz quarters of the former Brown University man—a gallery of vivacious beauty that evoked friendly and congratulatory smiles from the young officers who beheld it.

The "beauty gallery" of the regiment's polo star came back to America with him when the troops returned from the Rhine, and it continued to adorn his quarters during his transfer here and there.

Consequently, when an entirely different young woman appeared in Anniston, Alabama, a few weeks ago with an engaging little girl with tawny curls, and announced herself as the wife of Lieutenant James C. Rickner, of the Eighteenth Infantry, there was distinct surprise.

Details of her story spread abroad. She had met Rickner in Douglas and in Globe, Arizona, before he was in the service. He was a Westerner, a Colorado man, and she was a native of Arizona. They were married late in 1919 at Alexandria, Louisiana, after Rickner had won his lieutenant's bars.

The honeymoon was not over before Rickner was ordered to join the Army of Occupation in Germany. Then the baby was born. Rickner had never seen Marilynn until Mrs. Rickner brought the child to Anniston.

Mrs. Rickner, Witnesses Will Testify, Stooped and Glanced Through the Keyhole, Went In and Came Out, with Tears Streaming Down Her Cheeks.

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

THE rainy weather is approaching and it will soon be time for us to pick up our umbrellas for the Winter.

OF course we have to wait until somebody else buys them so we can take them away by mistake.

AT the first of the season you generally have to pick up five or six until you get one you like.

THE best way to do is to patronize all the high class restaurants, because the better places you visit the classier umbrellas you'll find.

ONE guy was so particular it took him all Winter before he found an umbrella with his initials on it.

NOBODY dares stop you from taking his umbrella because the chances are he took it from somebody else.

A MAN will look at you like the umbrella you're carrying is a stolen one, but you want to look right back at him as though it wasn't.

NEVER give an umbrella back to naybody who claims it. One bird did this and discovered that he'd returned his own umbrella to somebody else.

AND then just because he lost a silk one he went out and stole four cotton ones to make up for it.

HE found it was so easy to get umbrellas that this year he's going to pass them up and try for raincoats and rubber boots.

SOME people have found it advisable to take three or four umbrellas with them so they'll get home with at least one.

ANOTHER good way to do is to put them on a chair like the pencils in the telegraph office.

WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF HOME?

What are you making of your home—a place to go away from?

Giving it less and less attention and shorter periods of your presence?

Is your home merely a place to eat, sleep and hurriedly dress in and then get out again?

Do you ever have old time happy family gatherings in the early evenings, when all the family are given the privilege of freedom of speech and action?

Do the members of your family follow your example and hurry to it only so that they can make an earlier start to go somewhere else?

Have you lost the desire to buy pretty things for the home, lost your ambition to slick up the premises, because you have so many outside interests and around so little that you are not much interested in how it looks?

Are you losing your love of home because you love ease better?

What you are just beginning to realize in this matter has been apparent to your neighbors and your family for many a long day.

Just making the turn off Franklin street, on car track, and having to get out to find the cause, a suburban car was right behind, and, not being able to find the trouble, the conductor came along to assist, while a couple of autos kept tooting their horns, and a number of men and boys gave their opinions as to what the matter was. Well, if that wasn't embarrassing, try it some time yourself.
